The drive from Osakis to Long Prairie is beautiful no matter which route you choose. Take the western route around the lake on County Road 3 and turn east on 10 to hug the west and north shores of the lake all the way to Long Prairie. On the eastern side, follow scenic Lake Street Drive to County Road 37, connecting to 10 as you make your way to Long Prairie, or drive Highway 27 all the way to town.

Any route you choose takes you through farm country and a horse-and-buggy Amish community that lives and works on the main roads and back lanes that connect the two towns. As you pass by their buggies on the road, you’ll notice that they don’t allow slow moving vehicle signs or reflective tape, but use small battery powered lamps at night. Keep an eye out for them when traveling after dark!

You’ll easily recognize their farmsteads that dot the countryside with their white or red homes and barns. The Amish support their families through a variety of business endeavors both large and small: grain and dairy farming, carpentry, sawmills, furniture and basket-making, tarp repair, horse-shoeing, quilting, egg, and garden produce sales and many other activities. If a business sign dangles from a post at the end of their driveway, feel free to stop in to shop for quilts, baskets, cedar chests, furniture, farm-fresh eggs, and homemade jams and jellies.

Welcome to Long Prairie

History, Culture, and Diversity!
Established along the banks of the Long Prairie River in 1845, in its earliest years the settlement served as an Indian Agency and soon became a bustling agricultural and business community. Today, the Long Prairie area is home to people of various ethnic backgrounds that enrich and enliven the town and surrounding area. While agriculture continues to be a vital part of the local economy, Long Prairie also benefits from many large industries, is home to a CentraCare medical campus, enjoys modern school facilities, and is the Todd County seat.

Visitors to Long Prairie come to enjoy the history, recreation, museums, and other activities available throughout the year. Spend some time in the past, walking through the Christie House, exploring central Minnesota history at the Todd County Museum, viewing the Veterans Memorial Park, and browsing through downtown’s historical buildings. For a taste of the 50's, spend a weekend night outdoors at the movies at the Long Drive-In, voted Best in the State! Thursday evenings you’ll find a crowd gathered on the Christie House lawn enjoying an outdoor concert of anything from blue grass to classical music. For year-round music, the Long Prairie Chamber Orchestra features area talent and guest performers at four seasonal concerts.

Outdoor enthusiasts will find the Long Prairie River is perfect for kayaking, tubing, or canoeing. Lions Charlotte Park offers a wide range of activities over its 30 acres, and right in town is a beautiful, 18-hole golf course open to the public. Winter finds the locals enjoying several snowmobile trails, cross-country skiing, and ice fishing on area lakes.

St. Mary’s School

In 1852, the first Catholic grade school in the Diocese of St. Cloud was founded in Long Prairie, Minnesota. That year, a Sister of St. Joseph made the long journey by wagon from St. Paul, called to teach the children of this new settlement on the banks of a river in central Minnesota. By January, 1853, 60 to 90 students gathered in the newly opened school in Long Prairie.

At the time, the area was a tinderbox of simmering conflict, and the school was destroyed in the Indian uprising that swept the area in 1862. In 1878, the Sisters of St. Francis came to teach for a time, followed by the Benedictine Sisters in 1880. In February, 1906, over 200 students moved from their cramped quarters in the church basement to their new brick school house; the same one used by students and teachers today.

With a legacy of over 160 years of Catholic education, St. Mary’s School continues to serve the Long Prairie community with a quality, Christ-centered education. Teaching 125 PreK through 6th grade students in a highly successful program, St. Mary’s strives to encourage the academic, spiritual, and social development of its students. A parish and school-wide theme sets the goals even higher: Destination Heaven! Stop in at the school for a visit and catch the spirit!
Long Prairie Country Club

At one time, the rolling hills and oak-lined fairways of this 18-hole course were pastures set aside for city dwellers’ “house cows.” With local milk delivery came the demise of the house cow and a new purpose for this beautiful acreage. In 1927, the Long Prairie Country Club welcomed the first golfers to the original 9-hole course. Expanded to 18 holes in 1997, LPCC is open to the public with reasonably priced memberships and green fees.

Long Drive-In

Sixty years ago you could find drive-in movie theatres all over the United States. In Minnesota alone, there were 70 or 80. Cars lined up with pajama-clad kids in the back of family station wagons, rolling in by the thousands to spend a night together watching the latest Hollywood release. And then one by one, the gates were closed and the projectors went black…until only a few remained.

One of the best still opens its gate every weekend evening: the Long Drive-In located on the northern edge of Long Prairie, Minnesota.

Started in 1956, the Long Drive-In is a three-generation work of pride and family effort for current owners Michelle and Dan Claseman. “My mom started working here in 1969 and my Dad in the early 70s. They purchased it in 1985 and my husband and I bought it from them in 2014. Now our kids work here, too. It’s a family business we love being a part of.” What their family offers other families is the chance to step back in time. “We make the atmosphere as family oriented as we can, with a retro 1950s theme,” said Dan. And the fun starts long before the movie. With the gate opening at 6:30, you’ll see kids playing frisbee or football, a family game of catch, and pick-ups with loveseats or lawn chairs backed in for a comfortable view of it all.

So whether you’re in the area on vacation for a week, planning a weekend stay, looking for a fun night out, or just making a day trip to the Long Prairie-Osakis area, don’t miss one of the most unique experiences in the state. Load up the kids! Load up the car! Come early and stay late at the Long Drive-In!
Three historical venues bookend Long Prairie’s Central Avenue, making it a great place to spend a day in yesterday! The Christie House is situated just off Highway 71 and offers a unique, pristine view into the early, 1900s lifestyle of the prominent Long Prairie Christie family. Just across the street you’ll find Veterans Memorial Park, featuring a World War II Battle of Iwo Jima mural, a Korean War memorial and Huey Helicopter. A short three blocks further east is the Todd County Museum, with artifacts and displays from all corners of the county.

Leatherwood Vinegary
Since 2004, Leatherwood Vinegary, located four miles west of Long Prairie, has produced 50 flavors of wine-vinegar, each taking nearly a year from fruit to finished wine-vinegar. Grapes, apples, cherries, plums and rhubarb are all grown at Leatherwood and these fruits, as well as other purchased fruits, are used to make the wine. They also grow many varieties of herbs and infuse them in the wine-vinegars to produce herbal vinegars.

Owners Ron and Nancy Leasman are happy to host tours by appointment for people curious about how their artisan vinegars are made. While winter tours include the vinegar-making process and gift shop, spring, summer, and fall tours have the added attraction of orchard and herb garden walks.

Hats Off Coffee
Quick! What do cacti, books, hats and coffee have in common?

Give up? You’re not alone. It might just be that Daiv Freeman is the only person alive who could envision fitting those four things together. The short version, Part One: An interest in cacti got Daiv looking for a particular book. The only place the book could be found was England, and that prompted him to start a home-based, online business selling specialty horticulture books.

Part Two: Daiv is also fond of oilcloth trail hats. Trouble is, he had to order in groups of 10 in all sizes. What to do with all those smalls and mediums he couldn’t wear? Sell them online, of course. And once you sell trail hats, why not a fedora, or women’s hats? Which leads to…

Part Three: Hats take up a LOT more room than books, and soon Daiv could be seen peaking in the window of a vacant bank building, envisioning a place to display and ship books and hats, brew fresh-roasted coffee, and provide a relaxing atmosphere for locals and visitors to enjoy. Heck, there was even a drive-up window already in place.

For the long version, you’ll just have to stop in and ask Daiv to tell you about it over a hot cup of coffee!

Cornerstone Pines
Getting a Christmas tree in the Long Prairie area offers a whole different experience from the city tree lot. At Cornerstone Pines off of Highway 287, it's even more than just picking out a tree. With acres of rolling backcountry and a North Pole village, this family-run farm offers a whole host of winter and holiday activities. Kids can go sledding, visit the petting zoo, play in Mrs. Claus’ cottage and the elf tunnels, and give their Christmas wish lists directly to Santa in his workshop. Adults can visit the gift shop for decorations and locally crafted gifts, and the whole family can enjoy horse-drawn sleigh rides through the woods. Take a walk out to the fields to cut down your own tree—Fraser and balsam firs, spruce, pine, and hybrids—or visit the open shed for an assortment of pre-cut trees, hand-crafted wreaths, garlands, boughs, and more. Finish the day with hot cocoa and a picnic by the bonfire while Cornerstone trims and bales your tree. You won’t take home just a beautiful Christmas tree, but a wealth of winter wonderland memories too!

Whimsical Idea Becomes Winery

Dawn has never been much of a beer fan. So, when her husband Curt started brewing his own beer at home, she requested that he make some wine. The couple couldn’t have guessed that he would fall in love with the process and be making wine on a commercial scale a few years down the road.

At first, opening a winery was just one of those crazy ideas. But in 2011, the company Curt was working for reconfigured and he was offered a job out of state. The Richters decided to stay in Minnesota. With extra time on his hands, their vision of a local winery started to become a reality. In 2012 they purchased land just south of Long Prairie, and by the next year they built the winery. After the long permit process, Dragon Willow Winery hosted its first open house in July 2017.

Visitors can stop in for a tasting and see the once open field now transformed into a flourishing vineyard of 2,000 vines—and growing! In addition to 13 varieties of Minnesota hardy grapes, the winery will soon be raising apple, pear, and cherry trees for more fruit wine options.

Dragon Willow Winery guests can look forward to a variety of events featuring vendors and live music. For more information, please visit their website: DragonWillowWinery.com

Long Prairie River
Flowing north and east from Lake Carlos to the Crow Wing River, the Long Prairie River’s gentle current is ideal for canoeing, kayaking, tubing, and fishing. Canoe launches are available at the intersection of US Highway 71 and MN Highway 27 and also 4.5 miles west of 71 on County Road 38.

Long before European settlers came to the area, the Dakota and Ojibwa Indians benefited from this gently flowing river and long, narrow prairie with its abundant wildlife, waterfowl, and fish. Today, the Long Prairie River is still a great asset to the people who live and recreate here, providing summer recreation opportunities for canoe, kayak, and inner tube enthusiasts, and fall hunting of duck and geese.

The river begins 26 miles west of Long Prairie at Lake Carlos and meanders east and north for 96 miles, eventually flowing into the Crow Wing River. As it gently flows through the beautiful central Minnesota countryside, river riders find themselves in a world apart, with prairie, farm fields, woodlands and wildlife all observed from a river-eye view. Fish are also abundant in the river, and anglers can try their luck at landing northerns, walleye, and smallmouth and largemouth bass.

As fall weather arrives, so do migratory ducks and geese, with plenty of favorite hunting spots to enjoy the season. The brush and grasslands along the river are also home to upland birds such as pheasant and grouse.

Lions Charlotte Park
Located on the southern edge of town just off US Highway 71, Lions Charlotte Park is a hub for outdoor activity. The 30-acre park sits on the north and east sides of Lake Charlotte, a 151-acre lake with a surprising maximum depth of 84 feet and even more surprising walleye catches! During the summer months, the area is buzzing with activity at the well-maintained public beach, basketball court, sand volleyball court, lighted softball diamond, three picnic shelters, playground, and new frisbee golf course. On the west side there’s a public access boat launch and DNR fishing pier.

Long Prairie Trails
Interested in getting to know Long Prairie better? Four marked walking trails encourage active living and exploration of the Long Prairie community with maps provided at the Chamber of Commerce and online at www.longprairietrails.com.

Geocache
Geocaching is the global adventure that combines the outdoors, technology, and digital media. Check out Long Prairie’s many Geocaches. Traditional, Multi or Puzzle, we have them all.

Winter Fun
There’s plenty of outdoor fun to keep active year-round. Several snowmobile trails intersect the area and cross-country skiing, skating, and ice fishing are favorite activities to pass the winter months.

Todd County Courthouse
Built in 1883 and listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the Todd County Courthouse is a testimony to the work and commitment of our earliest settlers. Requiring over 100 tons of stones for the foundation and 400,000 bricks in the structure, the courthouse cost less than $25,000 to build. In 2010, residents of Todd County made the commitment to preserve this treasure for generations to come with a much needed renovation. Visitors are welcome during business hours.
